Hello! My name is Holly Jarjosa and I am from Michigan in the United States of America. I am 29 years old. I graduated from Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, MI with a degree in English Education and a minor in French. In the States, I was an English teacher and a business professional. I chose to come to France so that I could teach English to high school students and to introduce my culture to them, but I also came here to improve my French!

Living in France is actually my first time abroad. However, since moving here, 4 months ago, I have travelled to England, Scotland, the Netherlands, Belgium, Spain, and technically Iceland, but only for an hour. In the near future, I will be traveling to Hungary, Germany, and Portugal, and I hope to travel to many other countries in the future!

After I am done teaching in France, my goal is to attend a graduate school here and obtain my Masters in business. I hope to use my education and business experience to become an international project or event manager.

I love living in France. I have loved my experiences teaching at your school as well! And yes, it is different from the United States, but in a good way. I would love to stick around France for as long as I can. Thank you for listening!
